Pottery Firms File Counter Proposals

EAST LIVERPOOL — Eleven counter-propositions of the U. S. Pottery Association have been filed with the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters as a prelude to negotiations over a new wage agreement that will open Sept. 4 in Atlantic City.

Included are a clause that would eliminate all apprenticeships and apprentice regulations and substitute a 90-day training period for new craftsmen and a mandatory retirement for potters "when they reach the age for full Social Security."

Three of the longest propositions are embodied in a section called "Union-management responsibilities."

The USPA proposals also contain a clause that would require all employees in a particular plant to continue work despite "an illegal and unsanctioned walkout" in another department, regardless of the replacements named by management for the idle workers. They call for elimination of craft locals and substitution of plant locals.

The proposals were listed today in the Pottery Herald, official union newspaper. The top IBOP proposition, announced Aug. 15, call for a 40-cent hourly pay boost, a company-paid health and welfare plan and a pension plan similar to those in effect in the auto and steel industries.

Canfield Fair Gets Underway Today

The 111th consecutive Canfield Fair got under way today for a five-day run concluding Labor Day.

The fair — which is touted as one of the largest fairs in the nation and was one of the few in Ohio last year to make money — expects to break all previous attendance records, with an assist from the weatherman. Last year the fair drew 170,000.

The fair kicked off today with "Youth Day," with emphasis on projects by young people on the farm. Some 1,092 4-H club members are showing 1,333 projects.

Election of a 4-H king and queen who will reign over the junior fair proceedings is scheduled.

4 Persons Hurt In Road Mishaps

3 Motorists Cited By Highway Patrol

Four persons were injured and three arrested Wednesday in four traffic mishaps that took place on neighborhood roads.

Three people were hurt in a three-car collision on Rt. 7 one mile south of Boardman, at 7:50 p.m.

Injured were: William Edmonds, 61, of Canfield, possible fractures of the spine and neck and abrasions of the right ankle.

James Russell, 27, of Poland, contusions of the chest and a possible fracture of the ribs.

Richard Russell, 23, of Poland, contusions of the spine.

Canfield State Highway patrolmen said a car driven by Mrs. Angeline Jackintell, 42, of Youngstown was stopped on the highway making a turn and that Edmonds' vehicle had stopped behind it. The accident occurred when James Russell's car struck the rear of Edmonds' vehicle, pushing it into the rear of Mrs. Jackintell's car.

Edmonds was admitted to Youngstown's South Side Hospital. He is in fair condition. Both the Russells were treated and released.

James Russell was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance ahead.

Suffers Head Contusions
John Gagyi, 69, of Youngstown sustained contusions of the head and chest when he pulled his auto from a driveway into the path of a car driven by Robert Harold, 27, of Massillon on Rt. 62 in Westville at 3:30 p.m.

Gagyi was cited for failing to yield the right of way. He refused treatment.

Leslie Grove, 18, of Alliance was arrested for failing to obey a stop sign after his car went through an intersection on Rt. 62, two and one-half miles east of Alliance, at 10 p.m., and crashed into the side of an auto driven by Donald Kleener, 44, of Cincinnati.

No one was hurt when a truck-trailer driven by Charles Nusbbaum, 22, of Elkhart, Ind., drifted into another truck-trailer operated by Joseph Desarro, 29, of Wellsville on Rt. 7, one-half mile south of Rogers, at 3:30 p.m.

Patrolmen said Desarro's rig had slipped behind Nusbbaum's disabled vehicle. The accident occurred when Nusbbaum's truck broke loose from a tow truck and drifted into Desarro's outfit.

CITED AFTER MISHAP
Mary Elizabeth O'Neil, 45, of 333 E. 4th St. was arrested for failure to yield the right of way Wednesday at 11 p.m. after the car she was driving collided with an auto operated by Mrs. Carrell Briggs, 29, of MC 1, Salem at the intersection of Ellsworth Ave. and State St.

U.S. Lays Disarmament Plans Before Russians

Thurmond Still Talking Against 'Rights' Bill

Southern Senator's Filibuster Began At 8:54 Last Night

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) carried his one-man stand against the civil rights bill well into daylight hours today in the face of Republican talk about an anti-filibuster change in Senate rules.

Shortly before 7 a.m., as Thurmond passed the 10th hour of a speech against the measure, GOP Leader Knowland of California interrupted him briefly.

Knowland first told the South Carolina senator he will not be able to block Senate action by long talk. Knowland said there will be no resolution for final adjournment of this session of Congress "until we have completed work on the pending legislation—which is the civil rights bill."

Then the Republican leader asked Thurmond if he was trying to emphasize "the need for a change in January of Rule 22?" Rule 22 is the one that makes it difficult to shut off debate in the Senate. It requires the votes of 64 senators—two-thirds of the full membership—to apply a limit to debate.

Up to this session Southerners have taken advantage of that rule by either actual or threatened filibusters to block civil rights legislation. Other senators have conducted filibusters under it against other legislation.

Made No Reply
Thurmond made no specific reply to Knowland's question.

Thurmond did say his speech was designed to "call to the attention of the Senate and the people of the nation that this is a dangerous bill."

Thurmond yielded the floor to Knowland for the exchange and thus gained one of his few respites since he began talking at 8:54 p.m. Wednesday night. Thurmond resumed reading documents in a monotone. He obviously was becoming tired.

When Knowland arrived at 6:30 a.m. for his brief interruption there were only three persons in the galleries and three members on the floor—Sens. Clark (D-Pa.), presiding, and Mansfield (D-Mont.) and Hruska (R-Neb.).

Opposition Voiced
Several other Southern senators had spoken during the long session that began at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Virtually to a man, they voiced their unyielding opposition to the bill.

Ohio AFL, CIO Head Toward Consolidation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Federation of Labor is heading today toward consolidation with the Ohio CIO. The final note of discussion was drudgingly silenced Wednesday.

The dissenters, officials of the Ohio Building and Construction Trades Council, abandoned plans for a floor fight against the merger at the Federation's convention here and accepted instead a "statement of principal" backing their grievances.

The Building Trades Council had drawn up a resolution urging the National Building Trades Assn. to withdraw from the national AFL-CIO because of jurisdictional problems with former CIO industrial unions.

Rather than submit the resolution to the floor of the convention for approval, however, the Building Trades Council settled for a "statement of principal" urging full protection of the building trades unions in the merger.

Dulles Will Be Target of Democrats In 1958 Campaign, Smathers Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) said today Democrats are going to run against Secretary of State Dulles in next year's battle for control of Congress.

Smathers, who heads the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, said he is convinced criticism of the Eisenhower administration's foreign policies helped Democrat William Proxmire win an upset victory in Tuesday's special Senate election in Wisconsin.

Proxmire defeated Republican Walter J. Kohler, a former governor, who ran as a strong supporter of President Eisenhower.

Ran Against Acheson
The Republicans ran against Dean Acheson when he was secretary of state," Smathers said.

"Secretary Dulles represents this administration's uncertain foreign policies and he is a legitimate target for attack in the campaign."

Smathers spoke in an interview as Proxmire waited to be sworn in as the first Democratic senator elected from Wisconsin since 1932.

Proxmire was elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, a Republican.

Proxmire flew into Washington Wednesday night, expecting to be seated in the Senate promptly. But Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California blocked the attempt, saying the ceremony would have to await receipt of official word from Wisconsin Gov. Vernon W. Thomson that the 41-year-old Proxmire had been elected.

Set off Argument
This set off a loud argument between Knowland and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. But Knowland's objection under the unanimous consent rule postponed the action.

Meanwhile, in a separate interview, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) agreed with Smathers that foreign policy is likely to be one of the prime political issues in 1958.

"I think there are three fronts on which we ought to hit the Republicans hard — foreign policy failures, their lack of a farm program and their tight money policy that is pinching the small business man, the laboring man and the farmer," Humphrey said.

Proxmire, in an airport news conference here Wednesday night, said "I campaigned strictly on the basis of a practical, workable plan for a start on world disarmament."

Son, 4 Others Accused of Aiding Him

Federal Jury Indicts Beck for Tax Evasion

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A second multiple indictment charging evasion of income taxes—this time totaling $184,000 — faced Dave Beck today. His son and four others are accused of aiding him conceal his earnings.

The seven count charge covering the years 1951-53 was returned here Wednesday by a federal grand jury and quickly denied, in Los Angeles by the portly head of the Teamsters Union. It culminated a four and a half week investigation by the jurors who indicted Beck May 2 on charges of evading $56,000 in taxes in 1950.

The conspiracy indictment, in two counts, charges all six defendants concealed and misrepresented Beck's actual income.

Maximum penalty for income tax evasion and for conspiracy is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for each count.

Immediately after the indictments were returned, federal Judge John C. Bowen issued bench warrants for the six men. He raised Beck's bail from the $5,000 set after the May indictment to $25,000 and set bail for the others at $5,000 each.

Beck, attending a Teamsters executive board meeting in Los Angeles, greeted news of the new indictments with an "I'm not guilty" comment.

"I'm not surprised," he said. "It's happening every day. I'm not guilty—that I assure you. Certified public accountants always made out my income tax. All I did was sign it. If any mistake was made, they made it."

None of the others could be reached for comment.

Judge Bowen set Sept. 12 for arraignment of the six men.

8 Reformatory Rioters Held In 'Solitary'
BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP)—Eight of the 125 inmates who engaged in a frenzied revolt in which one rioter was killed were kept in solitary confinement today at the Colorado reformatory.

The 337 inmates were divided into mess hall shifts of 30 to minimize the chance of further violence.

Reformatory and special officers questioned them singly and in groups in an effort to determine the spark which ignited the violence in cellblock C for 45 minutes Tuesday night.

The eight youths stripped and placed in solitary were not identified. Warden James S. Thomas said preliminary questioning indicated they led the riot.

Thirty others, all due for release on probation Wednesday, were detained while officers attempted to learn whether they were involved.

The 125 occupants of cellblock C, which Gov. Steve McNichols said after a personal inspection was unfit for human habitation, began tearing apart their cells, smashing furnishings and setting fire to their mattresses after dinner Tuesday night.

Two guards were trapped inside the cellblock and beaten. Evaristo Gomez, a 23-year-old inmate from Denver, was shot and killed.

The riot was quelled when Warden Thomas led a charge of officers and guards, armed and shooting, into the cellblock.

Ohio Is Nation's No. 2 Industrial State, Second Only to New York

EDITORS:

Ohio's lush industrial climate has elevated it to the No. 2 spot in the nation—behind New York. Within the next 10 years, the state hopes to overtake the current industrial leader, Columbus AP Staffer Bill Terry, in a series of three articles, tells why Ohio has been so fortunate, and what might be expected for the future. The first of the series follows:

(First of three parts)

By BILL TERRY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio now is the nation's No. 2 industrial state, second only to New York. Within the next 10 years Ohio hopes to overtake New York—a statement that has been made repeatedly by government and business officials.

To achieve that, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce is developing a 10-year plan. And the chamber, which has as members more than 5,000 firms and corporations doing business in the Buckeye state, believes Ohio's natural advantages give it a good start.

In the last 10 years Ohio passed both Illinois and Pennsylvania in the industrial production race. The chamber believes Ohio's industrial future looks exceptionally bright against a background of a rapid growth in population and sharp gains in industrial production.

Ohio now has more than nine million people, according to estimates, and ranks fifth in population. The U.S. Census Bureau estimates Ohio should pass Illinois and Pennsylvania to become the third most populous state 15 years from now.

People mean markets for goods, workers for factories.

No less an authority than Dr. Clyde E. Williams, president of Battelle Memorial Institute, large industrial research organization in Columbus, says that Ohio's geographical location is its most potent asset industrially.

This means closeness to markets and raw materials, plus good transportation. He says:

"Undoubtedly, Ohio's vast resource of cheap coal, available for the production of low-cost power, is of vital importance in this age of electricity. Similarly important are other minerals used in the production of iron and steel, chemicals, and other materials basic to a diversified industry. Of paramount importance as a resource is Ohio's iron and steel industry whose widely diversified products attract numerous types of manufacturing to the state."

Ohio's steel industry will continue to grow, he believes, and that growth will attract increasing numbers of manufacturers of machinery and machine tools. And the machinery and tools industries are destined for dynamic growth, he adds, because automation will dictate replacement or renovation of some industrial plants.

No agency has kept an account of the industries that have located in Ohio in the last 10 years or so. But in the last dozen years more than 20 completely new automotive plants have been built in northern Ohio alone. They cover more than 450 acres under roof, provide 65,000 jobs, and have a combined annual payroll of about three billion dollars.

The chemical industry also has grown rapidly in northern Ohio, and plants have sprung up along the Ohio River and in industrial cities.

The reasons why one large manufacturer—Olin Mathieson—chose Ohio for a huge new plant are given by its executive vice president, Walter F. O'Connell. He said the company selected the east central location at Clarington on the Ohio River in Monroe County because it is near top quality coal deposits which will provide a vast supply of economical electric power. The site also is close to the center of the aluminum buying market. And the Ohio River gives excellent deep-water transportation.

Ohio industrial boosters say that 75 per cent of the nation's consumer markets are within a 500-mile radius of Ohio. They say that's one main reason Ohio leads in the manufacture of a long list of products.

(Tomorrow: Ohio tax climate favorable for industry.)

Water Moccasin Inbeds Fangs into Young Girl

HUGHES SPRINGS, Tex. (AP)—Frances Marks, 11, was playing near a stock pond Wednesday when a water moccasin struck and embedded its fangs in her hand.

Unable to get her hand loose, the girl used a pocket knife with which she had been playing to cut the reptile's fangs from her hand. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marks described the snake as about four feet long and six inches in diameter.

Hospital attendants later removed her from the critical list.

TWO COMPLETE TRIP

MADISON, Ind. (AP)—Clifford Crane and Ronald Foster, two 17-year-old Pittsburgh high school seniors, Wednesday completed a 560-mile trip down the Ohio River in a 40-ton floating boat garage. The youths were commissioned by Ben Selig, Indiana businessman, to pilot the 55-by-26-foot, U-shaped boathouse from Pittsburgh to Selig's summer home near here.

County Land Bought For State Lake

LISBON — The Highlandtown lake project is anything but "washed up," declares State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon.

Supporting his claim was the appearance here this week of a Division of Wildlife official with a $55,000 check for E. E. Ismond's 618 acres in Washington and Wayne Townships.

Wetzel says some $120,000 has been paid for lake site land and that the estimated cost of the entire project is $225,000.

The lake will cover about 180 acres of the 1,110 acres, Wetzel says.

Several weeks ago, while Wetzel was convalescing from a heart attack, the Division of Wildlife announced it was giving up the Highlandtown Lake project because a landowner was holding out and there didn't seem to be much public interest.

The wildlife release said land already obtained would be used as a public hunting area.

At that point, Wetzel and the Wellsville Kiwanis Club took action to get the division to change its position.

Speaking for the Wellsville Kiwanians several weeks ago, Bruce Thorne, the holdout, said he would be willing to sell a portion of the 78-acre family farm but didn't want to dispose of all of it. Nine acres of the Thorne land would be covered with water, Wetzel said.

Seven farms or portions of farms have been purchased by the state. Two other pieces will be paid for as soon as deeds are completed. Wetzel said. Paul Hayes received a check for 38 acres two weeks ago, Wetzel added.

Hemorrhoids or Piles

A recurring question submitted to this column concerns hemorrhoids, or piles. These are two names for the same thing.

Hemorrhoids, or piles, are enlarged veins which develop at or near the outlet of the rectum. The enlargements often occur in clusters and tend to appear and disappear.

They may come on gradually or suddenly. A sudden strain, such as lifting a heavy object, or a bad attack of constipation, often brings the trouble to the patient's attention for the first time.

Blockage of the flow of blood through the hemorrhoidal veins favors the development of piles. Many factors are involved: long continued severe coughing, childbirth, the muscular strain of heavy lifting, athletics or constipation.

Often the first symptoms of piles is the presence of blood on the outside of the bowel waste without pain. Another common early sign is itching. Bleeding is usually slight at first, but the amount of blood lost can eventually cause anemia.

Ulcers, or cracks in the skin or mucous membrane around the rectum often develops in a continued case. Such complications are usually painful.

At times clots can form inside the enlarged veins. These are likely to arise suddenly, together with severe pain. The clots are usually absorbed in a week or so, though the clot can be removed by surgery.

A letter from D. asks not only for information about hemorrhoids in general, but also whether there is any cure besides surgery and whether heat should be used.

In mild cases there is often considerable improvement without surgery and sometimes surgery is not necessary. When it comes to a cure, however, that is complete relief of severe or consistently bleeding hemorrhoids, there almost certainly is no method which is as satisfactory as surgery. Heat is of little value, though it might possibly relieve the discomfort temporarily.

The operation can be performed with either local or general anesthesia. There has been some improvement in the methods of treatment and postoperative care in recent years so that convalescence is usually more rapid and the pain less severe following this operation.

I am often asked whether hemorrhoids lead to cancer. Fortunately, though hemorrhoids may cause a lot of discomfort, they do not increase the chances of developing cancer. But one should be sure that bleeding or other symptoms in this area are not the result of cancer since to delay treatment in such event would be disastrous.

Short Memories

By DAVID LAWRENCE

House Stand on Bomb Tests Very Clear

David Lawrence
armament Conference to suspend nuclear tests are the very ones Adlai Stevenson had suggested and for which the Democratic presidential nominee had been criticized in the 1956 campaign.

The official record shows nothing of the kind. It does show that Adlai Stevenson was willing, if elected president, to suspend nuclear tests without any agreement that Soviet Russia would do likewise.

It shows also that the United States has consistently proposed that nuclear tests be suspended only if an agreement with Soviet Russia is reached on other phases of reduction in armaments.

THE WHITE HOUSE on October 2, 1956, gave out the complete record which said in part:

"On Nov. 11, 1955, at the Geneva Foreign Ministers Conference, Secretary Dulles stated that 'if agreement can be reached to eliminate or limit nuclear weapons under proper safeguards, the United States would be prepared to agree to corresponding restrictions on the testing of such weapons.'"

"On Dec. 24, 1955, Pope Pius XII, in a Christmas broadcast, declared that the three steps of 'renunciation of experimentation with atomic weapons, renunciation of the use of such, and general control of armaments' must be effected together."

"At the London meetings of the disarmament subcommittee, the U.S. delegation on April 3, 1956, put forward a working paper suggesting a step-by-step plan for the first phase of a comprehensive disarmament program including limitation of conventional armaments, provision against surprise attack, including President Eisenhower's proposals for control of the nuclear threat, and limitations on the testing of nuclear weapons as part of a safeguarded disarmament program."

"THE PAPER included a proviso that 'the testing of nuclear weapons will be limited and monitored in an agreed manner,' by an armaments-regulation council which the U.S. proposed should be established. This proposal was not accepted by the U.S.S.R."

Notwithstanding these facts, which have been widely published at the time each event occurred, Adlai Stevenson said in a speech on April 1, 1956, to the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington that the United States "should give prompt and earnest consideration to stopping further tests of the hydrogen bomb," and then added:

"Of course, I would call upon other nations to follow our lead, and if they don't, and persist in further tests, we will know about it and we can reconsider our policy."

TWO DAYS LATER Sen. Kefauver—who is one of those senators now lamenting the attacks on Mr. Stevenson—said in a public statement:

"I think that anything we do along that line should be reciprocal. I wouldn't want this country to stop testing if they (the Russians) are going to keep on testing."

When the issue arose again in the campaign in the autumn of 1956, President Eisenhower on September 18 said:

"We cannot prove wise and strong by any such simple device as suspending unilaterally our H-bomb tests."

There's a vast difference between a proposal for "unilateral" or one-sided suspension of nuclear tests and an agreement worked out between the major powers such as the United States has been seeking to obtain under Democratic as well as Republican administrations from 1946 on.

Even as late as Oct. 23, 1956, Mr. Stevenson, however, was saying:

"It is for these reasons that I proposed long before this campaign that we take the lead in curbing this ghastly killer..."

"Yet the hard scientific fact seems to be that we can safely stop hydrogen explosions without inspection, because, if Russia or anyone else should violate an agreement and explode a big bomb, we would immediately detect it."

THERE HAS BEEN a palpable misrepresentation of the American position in Soviet Russia, which is to be expected.

But the making of a partisan issue out of the difficult and delicate question of controlling atomic warfare is a regrettable development inside this country. Even Pope Pius who has never proposed a "unilateral" suspension of tests but has taken a position in accord with that of the Western powers—has been continuously misrepresented as having once recommended the very plan which later was advocated by Mr. Stevenson.

It is a good thing the White House did make public the complete record of the American government's many proposals and the negative response they received from the Soviets.

The record is unequivocal and convincing that the United States has sought throughout by every means—long before the 1956 campaign—to obtain a limitation of atomic tests and armament only under safeguarded agreements.

All-American Bird

By TRUMAN TWILL

As long as it has been admitted that a parrot named Rajah painted a much-admired abstract in oil called "Cathay Laos," which this art buff in Los Angeles, this is as good a time as any to give the bird to some other hitherto puzzling situations.

A vulture named Howler has been at the bottom of a series of heavily-applauded economic moves that have gobbled more than half the substance out of the savings of the prudent.

A crowbird named Bugs has been in charge of tax legislation in Congress.

What has been fobbed off on the public as hillbilly music has been created by a crow named Squawker.

On the other hand, what has been fobbed off as long-hair music has been turned out by a woodpecker named Dauntless, working in a roomful of tin cans.

Those sculptures that have resembled something gooey melting in the sun have been turned out by a barn swallow named Faker... Art Faker, if you want the full name.

The modern literature that resembles a pile of dead fish on a dock was dredged up by an osprey named Anything Goes.

A sparrow known as Tweetie has been thinking up some of the bird-brained legislation that has enlivened our times.

A mother hen known as Dumcluck has been the genius behind the success in the Defense Department's guided-missile program.

In the State Department, they have been consulting a guinea fowl affectionately known as Screamer.

The federal highway program has relied heavily on a seagull known as Guiper, so-called because of his propensity for getting a-plenty while he is a-getting.

A cuckoo named, of all things, Cuckoo, has been in full charge of network programming for television.

A speckle-breasted flycatcher called Whoops deserves credit for the new millinery designs.

A bird of paradise named Fluffy Ruffles is the mastermind behind the current styles in ladies' hair-dress.

They have been using a team of meadowlarks named Huffy and Puffy to guide important decisions in the foreign-aid mixup.

Rajah the painting parrot who made the art buff's hearts beat faster has enough associates to start his own aviary, if he wants to finish what he has started.

It would be a shame if he backed out, having gone this far. Because what Rajah has started is a series of revelations that bird brains have been taking over the nation, peck by peck and twitter by twitter.

"Rajah want a cracker?" Old bird boy, you've got a cracker—a firecracker. With a short fuse and an extra-heavy charge of powder.

Russia's Spy Network

By VICTOR RIESEL

PARIS And now I will board the luxurious Lufthansa transoceanic airliner and fly into the western sun leaving behind me a peaceful continent—crawling with Communist spies and saboteurs among whom are many Americans.

Some of them once worked for the U.S. government. High up, too. And some still do.

These are the homing pigeons for Russia's international spy network, the KGB. Some go home along with Russian agents. They have an underground railroad all their own. They slip into the U.S. from Canada. They go out via Mexico, Paris, Amsterdam, Zurich, Vienna and Prague.

In Czechoslovakia, many of them join a cozy little American center all their own run by an old U.S. government official by the name of George Shaw Wheeler. They go into Prague but they seldom come out.

Another old U.S. government chap, Noel Field, a friend of Alger Hiss, now is working for the Russians in Budapest. He broadcasts nasty things about us over the wireless.

APPARENTLY, there's no business like spy business for the Russians. Everywhere on the continent I learned from those who know that the Russians are not really after military secrets as much as they want the formulas on new types of rubber, metals and tiny electronic mechanisms which can fit into one of your gold tooth fillings.

They want the data on what makes one of our missiles find its targets, what the missile ranges are and what systems are used for fuel supply in these airborne killers and radar gadgets which emit beams to steer rockets.

These espionage rings are hooked up to sabotage cells. Pardon my cloak and dagger stuff but their instructions are to infiltrate key factories across the world and be ready to blow them as high as an experimental balloon when KGB flashes the word via short wave.

AND FOR THIS type of infiltration you don't need a big Communist party. My friends in the French counter-espionage business tell me that the French Communist party operates its sabotage and infiltration activities with an apparatus of only 4,000—exclusive of professional spies of course.

This special Communist unit is known as the "Hors-Cadre"—meaning a sort of outside troop of fanatics.

As the French Surete Nationale's new chief, M. Verdier, and his anti-Communist specialist, M. Vie, tell me, only a handful of men know the identity of the Hors-Cadre operatives.

They are recruited personally by Communist party chief Maurice Thorez. Thorez is the only man in France who knows what the Hors-Cadre assignments are, where the men are placed and what special skills each has.

No other member of the Communist party's Central Committee is permitted to question Thorez about the cadre.

SO SKILLFULLY has Thorez manipulated them at the KGB's orders that he even slipped one into M. Vie's special counter-intelligence unit. M. Vie says, with considerable satisfaction, that this particular Hors-Cadre comrad is hors-de-combat now.

The French feel that the Russians have most heavily concentrated on them. The Communists' Hors-Cadre has slipped into the most strategic factories, into their atomic energy commission and into the special French training schools which prepare young men for government careers.

They have even slipped into some of our vital bases there. There are Communists in the French secret services and in virtually all important government ministries.

Now the French government is getting tough again. The new chief of the Surete Nationale, M. Verdier, has instructions to clean up fast.

The surete is the French equivalent of our FBI. Under the surete is a bureau called the Special Political Police.

UNDER THIS is the Section of Studies, headed by M. Vie. Its job is to know everything there is to know about the Communists and smash their underground machine.

M. Verdier and his colleagues are hard-working men. Yet basically they're pursuing 4,000 men and women. So don't anybody back home rest easy because the American Communist party has only some 20,000 members. We have a Hors-Cadre unit, too, in some form, in addition to the spies.

This could cost us many a battle before the war starts.

Deflation Or Inflation?

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A queasy stock market and some harried industrialists are watching a few small clouds on the horizon today as business heads for its fall test.

Most of the economic statistics still point upward. But a number of indicators have turned around and now point down.

All this could change after Labor Day. Many business leaders are confident that consumers will start another buying spree and that 1957 will end on a high note.

Right now, however, other businessmen are worried about backed-up inventories, layoffs due to slow production, loss of government money by cutbacks in defense spending, still lagging home building, the squeeze on business thinking in the spring and early summer may change.

Deflation might then be in the air with the fear that it might get out of hand even if the Federal Reserve jumped in as promised to make money easy.

Some businessmen already charge that the tight money policy has slowed economic activity dangerously.

The worrisome trends haven't set into a firm pattern. It may take another month or so to tell which way the economy will head in the final months of the year. But let's look at some of the trends that are turning Wall Street bulls into bears.

Business spending for expansion and government spending for defense have been two factors putting the heaviest foot on the throttle of the business boom.

Now there are cancellations or postponements of some business at a record high but the volume of building plans. Spending remains new contracts declines. Sometimes tight money is blamed.

Sometimes it is a matter of capacity being built beyond current demand.

The pentagon is trimming back spending with considerable fanfare. The goal of the outgoing defense secretary is to cut military spending by about four billion dollars a year from the rate at which it was galloping in June and July. Skeptics say all the money will be spent eventually, but even so the current cutback will be felt in the next few months.

Money voted for foreign aid has a way of coming back in the guise of payments for American products and services. An economy minded Congress appears bent on damming some of this stream.

Building of new homes is about 35 per cent below the 1955 peak. Recent sweetening of mortgage terms has yet to show any effect on home starts.

Retail sales are running slightly ahead of a year ago. But higher prices account for most of that. And big ticket items aren't moving as fast as manufacturers would like.

Sluggish sales in a number of lines are causing inventories to pile up. These probably will be worked off, even if sales picked up in the fall, before new orders are placed in boom-size volume.

Bank loans to business have dropped by 567 million dollars since June 30. In the same period last year they rose by 188 million dollars.

Wholesale commodity prices have stopped their climb. The wholesale food index has dropped from its record high. Price cutting shows up in such things as gasoline, fuel oil, flat glass, copper, zinc, lead and steel scrap.

Prices continue to rise on other items, particularly on services.

The cost of living is at a peak and probably will be the last thing to drop, lagging as usual behind price changes at manufacturing and wholesale levels. And the government's index measures conditions five weeks back.

Personal income continues to climb, but much slower now. Near full employment and rising wage rates prop it. Not until, if at all, the trends listed above develop into real deflationary forces will total personal income turn down.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Four-Cent Stamp Is Near

Congressional action indicates that the 4-cent postage stamp, while deferred a while, is as good as here, with air mail going to 7 cents and the postcard to 3. This follows the upping of special delivery stamps, for generations a dime, to 30 cents. To hold its patronage the village post office may have to give green trading stamps.

INFLATION now hits romance, love, industry and family contacts. To correspond often can take a bite out of your cash. For the first time in history your budget must include the cost of dropping a few lines to sweetheart, wife or mother.

This should help the telephone business. It can be cheaper in any one community to call up than to leave to pen, ink and Mr. Summerfield.

THE POST OFFICE Department is deep in the red and more income is necessary but your post office is taking on more and more the mode of a financial institution. The traditional warmth and comfort are gone.

Until the past decade the town post office was a friendly place, hard to associate with money, economic issues and a cost index. It was one place you got into and out of on a few pennies.

The post office, the mailbox, the letter carrier and the postmaster were symbols of cheap service, good feeling and an escape from the realities of the economic picture, good, bad or medium.

The postmaster was generally an exceptionally good natured, kindly man who had made friends in politics and could prove he lacked business ability.

Everybody knew and liked him. He could be depended upon to give you a ciagar, not to hand you a new list of price increases.

Today he is buried in ledgers, charts and orders from Washington. He has lost the old-time expression of affability, nonchalance and unconcern for money matters.

FOR MOST OF its history the postal department was in the red and postmaster generals thought it was a requirement.

The postal service was regarded as a public service furnished by Uncle Sam on the theory that correspondence contributed to the health and happiness of all people, didn't do business any harm and was the good right arm of romance and love.

Now there is an all-out effort to make it a giant corporation, invest it with the mood of a counting-house and figuratively slap over the stamp window a sign "Have Right Change Ready and Step Lively."

IN A MIKE WALLACE program Harry Bridges said he would not oppose Communists in this union, thought Meany a poor labor leader and was not at all disturbed by the McClellan revelations of men with long criminal records getting into the labor movement.

"Red" Smith tells of a priest at St. Peter's in Saratoga who boosted the Sunday collection by reminding many of the church that they were there for the races and betting plenty on the horses. Which reminded us of Msgr. Barry of Florida in his days as pastor of St. Patrick's at Miami Beach.

Father Barry had a routine which brought the big bills into the collection plate. "Most of you are here," he would say, "to enjoy yourselves, and I hope you have a wonderful time. I have observed that the most expensive hotel rooms are always taken and that the tips are big. The racing season is on and on a recent visit to the track I was astonished at the liberality of people at the mutuels windows. Under such conditions I am sure you feel liberal toward your church. I know you haven't more confidence in a race horse than in your faith. I know you won't regard Sunday in your church as a time and place to tighten up."

He would go on good naturedly in this manner, bringing many a chuckle. The collection plates would be loaded.

Question Of Means

It is hard to become interested in last-minute juggling of foreign-aid figures while pondering the implications behind a story which came out of the U.S. Census Bureau this week.

Per capita income, the bureau reports, reached an average of $1,940 in 1956. This was before taxes. It looks like a lot of money at first sight, and it would be if it were not for taxes.

It is impossible to know exactly how much is subtracted by taxation, because of wide differences in local and state tax rates. The total taken by federal taxation is indeterminate. Even an accounting wizard is baffled by hidden taxes, overlapping taxes and the shrewdly-organized confusion of the income tax laws.

But every person who comments on the total tax take, whether speaking as a government official or an ordinary citizen, agrees the limit of the people's ability to bear taxes has been reached and exceeded, unless the purpose is to fag the free enterprise system into a state of progressive decline.

The Department of Commerce has estimated that the average per family bite into the federal income tax alone was $540 in 1955—enough to take a sizeable chunk out of even $2,000 per capita incomes. And all other tax bites are added to that first monstrous bite.

They now are talking in Washington about adding as much as another half billion to foreign aid, or enough to make a round figure of three billion dollars. If there are 170 million Americans, foreign aid would check out at $17.60 per person in a federal budget calling for $423 per person before it was trimmed a few billion by popular demand.

Foreign aid has become a question of means—not how much money is needed abroad but how much money can be spared at home.

All On Trial

In all court procedures, everybody with a stake in the outcome goes on trial with the defendant. In the trial of Army Specialist 3-o William S. Girard in Japan, this truth is dramatically emphasized.

What happens to Girard is incidental.

What happens to relations between the United States and Japan is paramount. The U.S. position in the postwar world is tied to the outcome of what would have been a routine affair had it not been seized on by opponents of the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy.

Their aim is to get rid of the status-of-forces treaties whereby this government is given permission to exercise criminal jurisdiction over its forces abroad for acts committed while on duty. This is a surrender of sovereignty by countries in which U.S. troops are quartered. If the United States were to insist on absolute jurisdiction, instead of restricted jurisdiction, it would have to abandon many of its overseas bases. One of the results of the Girard incident already has been the recall of many U.S. troops, to relieve tension among the Japanese.

In the opening round of his trial, Girard's attorney renewed the claim that his client was officially on duty and therefore not subject to Japanese jurisdiction. This promises to be the key to the outcome of the trial.

If the Japanese judge turns Girard back to the U.S. Army for a court-martial, there will be nothing further to argue about, except the degree of his offense. The foreign-policy debate will be short-circuited.

Presumably the Best

The puzzler in preflight discussion of Pete Rademacher's chances against Floyd Patterson Thursday night has the experts' presumption that no amateur had a chance to lick the professional heavyweight champion, or even to stay in the ring with him on even terms. In view of the fact that Patterson, the pro, was recently an amateur and Rademacher had turned professional, this world of difference was hard to understand.

The experts were right. Their judgment will not be questioned again. The professional heavyweight champ from now on will be presumably the best there is—anywhere—all Rademachers to the contrary notwithstanding.

Memo From Poochie

This was written originally with a dog biscuit scraped on rough concrete:

"Why not tell the readers there were no dog days worth mentioning in August. You had led them to believe there would be."

"We dogs have never enjoyed a nicer month—cool nights and languorous days. We have been talking it over and agree among ourselves that dog days, so-called, exist only in the jargon of harking-back editorial writers who soon will be writing about Indian Summer the way it used to be but rarely is any more. Regards, Poochie."

It usually winds up in somebody being a wreck when a de luxe auto runs into a jalopy bank account.

Miss Lovetta Ann Heberling Married to Carl W. Flitcraft

Miss Lovetta Ann Heberling and Carl W. Flitcraft Jr. exchanged their marriage vows in a double ring ceremony performed at 3 p.m. Sunday in Holy Trinity Church in Youngstown.

The nuptials were solemnized by Rev. John Stanila, pastor of the church, before the all-white altar of pompons, asters and gladioli. The pews were lined with white ribbon interwoven with ivy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto C. Heberling of 330 Columbia St., Leetonia. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Flitcraft Sr. of 385 S. Union Ave.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in an empire gown of hand-clipped chantilly lace and tulle. The scoop neckline was edged with sequins and pearls. Long sleeves enhanced the fitted bodice. The front of the gown was fashioned in tiers of pleated tulle which floated into a lace and tulle cathedral train. Her four-tiered veil of silk illusion was edged with pearls, and attached to a crown of open work twists of pearl and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Alexander Coman of Pulaski, Pa. Her gown of Dior blue lace was designed with a sweetheart neckline and long mitts. Her matching hat of horsehair and tulle featured a circular veil.

The bridesmaids appeared in gowns of canary yellow nylon chiffon of waltz length. The draped bodice was styled with a sweetheart neckline and a V back ending in three bows. All wore half crown sequin horsehair rosettes with circular veils.

The bridesmaids were: Miss Edith Heberling of North Lima, Mrs. William Heberling of New Middletown, Mrs. Carl Heberling of Bedford, Mass., Miss Carole Flitcraft of Salem and Miss June Radu of Youngstown.

The attendants carried natural reed baskets of bronze Fuji chrysanthemums and pompons.

Miss Cynthia Mae Heberling of New Middletown, junior bridesmaid, was dressed in baby blue chiffon with dropped shoulder and hat to match. The flower girl, Miss Debra Heberling of Bedford, Mass., was in pink ruffled nylon tulle and lace. Both carried plateau baskets of white Fuji mums and pompons.

Alexander Coman of Pulaski, Pa. acted as best man. Ushers were Nick Coman of Pulaski, Charles Chetian of McDonald, Larry Williams of Salem, William Heberling of New Middletown and Carl Heberling of Bedford, Mass. William Heberling Jr. was ring bearer.

The mother of the bride was dressed in blue alencon lace and chiffon gown with a matching feather half hat. The bridegroom's mother wore a champagne silk organza sheath. Both wore a corsage of off-white cymbidium orchids.

A reception for 600 guests was held at the Old Barn in Youngstown. The bride's table was decorated with white gladioli, Fuji mums and pompons. The five-tiered wedding cake was topped with a bride-and-bridegroom figurine.

Mrs. Russell Brubaker of Youngstown and Mrs. Donald Shock of North Jackson, aunts of the bride, served. Mrs. Arthur Figinsky of Youngstown, aunt of the bride, registered the guests from Salem, Alliance, Leetonia, North Lima, New Middletown, Youngstown, Columbiana, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Congress Set to Pass Foreign Aid Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—An adjournment-bent Congress was set to pass finally today a $3,435,810,000 money bill to pay for military and economic aid to friendly nations around the globe.

The compromise bill, including

$2,768,760,000 in new funds and $667,050,000 in re-appropriated funds from previous years, was agreed upon by Senate and House conferees Wednesday.

The compromise figure is 244 million dollars more than the House originally voted and $256,900,000 below the Senate amount.

The last of the year's appropriations bills, it represents a slash of $1,004,400,000 from President Eisenhower's original foreign aid request in January.

Barring a hitch, the House planned to act first on the compromise. Senate approval was expected later in the day.

This would send the measure to Eisenhower by nightfall and clear the way for adjournment after the Senate acts on the civil rights bill.

The compromise aid bill contains 300 million dollars to start a new economic development loan fund on which Eisenhower has centered his "new approach" to economic aid. This approach is designed to put greater emphasis on loans instead of grants.

The Senate voted 400 millions for the fund's first year operations, but the House conferees refused Wednesday to budge from the House figure of 300 millions.

The House conferees did agree to approve $1,340,000,000 in new military aid funds. The House originally voted $1,250,000,000 for this purpose. The Senate approved $1,475,000,000. Since both houses approved re-appropriation of $538,000,000 in unspent military funds, the administration will have $1,878,000,000 available for arms aid.

They obviously were agreed, however, that the United States and its allies in the London talks—Britain, France and Canada—should act without delay to get their case before world public opinion, and give the Soviets no further excuse for attacking the West on the ground of lagging in disarmament proposals.

As to Russia's purposes, some officials speculated that the Moscow government may see a total breakdown of the London talks just ahead and may be preparing its propaganda position.

Democratic record in Congress. So my success was both a rejection of the Eisenhower administration and an affirmation of the Democratic program."

Smathers said he agrees with Proxmire's estimate that the defeat of Kohler represented a protest against Eisenhower and his policies.

Popularity Diminishing
"I don't think there is any question Eisenhower's popularity as president is diminishing rapidly," Smathers said. "He is still personally popular but people are getting disenchanted with him as president."

Proxmire plans to run next year for a full six-year term. His will be one of 12 Democratic Senate seats at stake, along with 20 Republican seats.

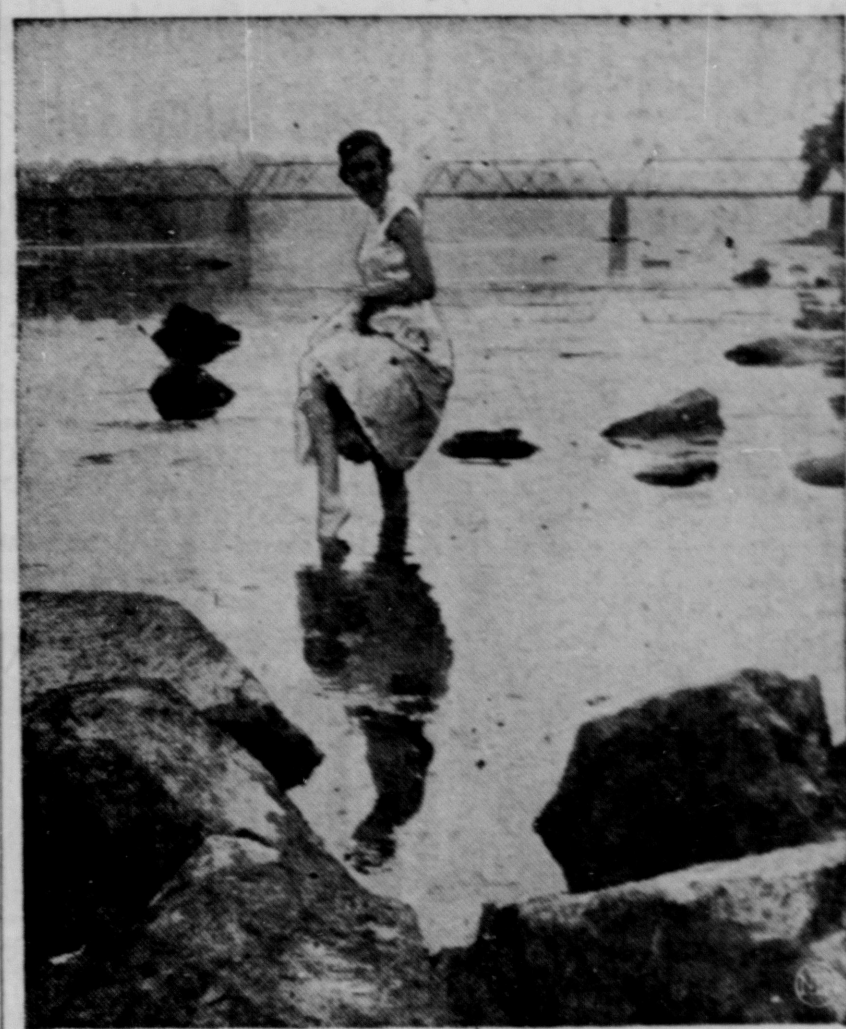

Meanwhile, Republicans assigned a wide variety of reasons for the defeat of Kohler.

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said he thinks a Republican candidate who offered the voters a "sharper choice" between candidates than Kohler did might have fared better. Both Proxmire and Kohler classed themselves as liberals.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) blamed Kohler's defeat on what he said were "so-called Republicans" who have been beating the brains out of the Republican party every day in the year."

However, Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) said it would be a false conclusion to believe that a reactionary or an isolationist could have run a better race than Kohler.

Each year citizens of the United States read approximately 18 billion, 500 million newspapers.

All conceded they lacked the numerical strength to talk the legislation to death.

Under the bill, federal judges would be given limited powers to try without a jury persons charged with criminal contempt for violating such injunctions.

If the judge levied a penalty heavier than a $300 fine or 45 days in jail, the defendant could demand a new trial by jury. If convicted by a jury, a defendant in a criminal contempt case could be sentenced to as much as six months in jail and $1,000 fine.

Other sections of the bill provide for establishment of a bipartisan commission to study civil rights problems and for creation of a civil rights division in the Justice Department, headed by an assistant attorney general.

TV Wins Place In Graham's Crusade Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — On-the-spot television has won a permanent place in the crusade plans of evangelist Billy Graham. The public response has convinced him.

"I think television has probably been our greatest ministry from here," says Graham, reviewing the airway aspects of his summer-long religious campaign at Madison Square Garden.

The 14th and final weekly hour-long telecast goes over the ABC-TV network this Saturday. The series is the first ever done directly from Graham's evangelical meetings.

The revivalist's previous TV activity was limited to half-hour studio talks, mostly filmed in advance, between 1951 and 1953.

"I just never felt they did as much good as they should," the Rev. Mr. Graham says in contrasting them with recent events.

"After all," he adds, "looking at a prize fight put on in a studio wouldn't be nearly as exciting to a spectator as one in an arena."

The biggest gain "is a feeling of participation."

Letters have been pouring in at the rate of 10,000 a week since the crusade went on television (there's been some expected fall-off during August) and, he says, "About 500 viewers each day write

they are receiving Christ into their lives."

"The Garden has become a great studio and platform to talk to millions on spiritual matters. "Our job is to reach as many people as we can through any medium. "We plan to do this (live television) in every crusade from now on. We will do broadcasts from the Cow Palace in San Francisco beginning in April, and from Charlotte next fall."

Ohio Education Program Under Study

13.6 Per Cent of County's College-Age Youth In Colleges

The future of Columbiana County's 23,122 school-age youngsters, along with those from each of the other 87 counties in the state, has become a major concern of the Ohio Commission on Education. Beyond the High School as it tackles the problems facing higher education in the next 10 years.

The 12-member commission, appointed by Gov. C. William O'Neill last March to prepare a "blueprint" for education beyond the high school in Ohio, is making a county-by-county study of enrollment and population statistics to be used as a guide for its future action. The commission hopes to have a report ready by next April.

In a report prepared for the Ohio College Association in 1955, it was reported that 13.6 per cent of the college-age population in Columbiana County was enrolled in college. Of 5,631 youths between 19 and 22, the study showed 765 attending one of Ohio's 54 colleges or universities.

In the statistical study it becomes necessary to look also at the population increases in Ohio by counties. In Columbiana County, for example, a 6 per cent increase has been noted from 1950 until 1956. In 1950 the population was listed as 98,920, in contrast to 105,000 in 1956.

The Columbiana County increase is part of the 13 per cent increase in Ohio for the same period. The state's population jumped from 7,946,000 in 1950 to 9,006,000 in 1956.

Births have increased annually in Ohio from 118,000 in 1930 to 232,000 in 1950. During the years 1950 to 1970 when these same youngsters become college age, the 18-21 year age group will increase from 430,000 to 759,000. Projecting these figures into the number of college age youth who will actually attend college, Ohio is faced with providing facilities for 307,000 students in 1970, compared to 124,000 in 1950 and 131,000 in 1956.

Adding to the pressure on higher education is the fact that enrollment in educational institutions has run well ahead of general population growth. During the past 70 years while the total population has tripled in Ohio, college attendance has increased from one-half of one per cent of college age youth to more than 25 per cent and is going up at the rate of approximately one per cent per year.

Expert Says Smog Could Be 'Laughing Matter'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Smog is no laughing matter, but a physicist from Cleveland says it could be.

Dr. Ray W. Johnson of the Case School of Applied Technology said Wednesday that nitrogen passes unchanged through internal combustion engines. But this could be changed, he said, by adding a catalyst, such as a bit of spongy platinum placed on a spark plug. Then, he said, "the engine would produce nitric oxide — the laughing gas once used by dentists."

"Of course," he acknowledged, "this wouldn't eliminate the lead get out poison, but at least we'd die laughing."

Beaver Schools To Enroll 2,000

Half Day Session Set On Tuesday

LISBON — The seven schools of Beaver Local District will enroll close to 2,000 pupils Tuesday morning.

Students are to report to their buildings at the regular time but will be dismissed about 11:30 a.m. the first day so they will be home for lunch, according to Dr. George Van Horne, executive head.

High school will start at 8:35 and the six elementary schools at 8:30.

None of the schools will have cafeteria service until Wednesday. Teachers at all buildings will report to Beaver High School near Williamsport at 1 p.m. for a general teachers' meeting.

The district's 28 buses — all board-owned — will begin traveling their routes at the regular time Tuesday morning. Van Horne said they will cover a total of 1,050 miles daily, transporting more than 1,700 pupils.

"We don't anticipate any great change in transportation schedules over last year with the possible exception of the Calcutta area," Van Horne said.

Besides the high school, Beaver district has elementary schools at Calcutta, West Point, Elkton, Rogers, Clarkson and Oak Grove. Each operates a cafeteria and has the same rates for hot lunches — 25 cents for elementary pupils, 30 cents for high school students, and 35 cents for teachers.

Van Horne said all eighth grades in the district will have classes at the high school, making grades 8, 9, 10 and 11 in the new building opened last fall. He expects some 650 pupils in the four grades.

Beaver district's enrollment, up at least 100 over last year, makes it the third largest in the county, following East Liverpool and Salem.

The district's faculty roster of 70 teachers includes 27 new or reassigned. One of the new ones is Miss Elizabeth Berninger, an exchange teacher from Germany, who will teach French and World History. The others follow, by schools:

High School: Jack Frontone, Calcutta, American History, biology and coach; Bobbie Bush, Calcutta, science, coach; Julia Jo Barnhart, Calcutta, English, girls' physical education; Samuel Wagner, Beaver Falls, Pa., freshman mathematics, English; Audrey Terry, Wellsville, commercial subjects; Jack Kuhlman, Columbiana, English, 8th grade coach; King W. Matthew, East Liverpool, vocal music; Andrew Howard, Steubenville, biology, chemistry.

Grade 8: Mrs. Roberta Lane, East Liverpool, language, arts;

John Carlisle, Leetonia, language, arts; Ronald Guchemard, Youngstown, social studies; Herbert Dorrill, Canton, language, arts.

Calcutta: Willa Tice, Calcutta, grade 1; Nelda Golden, transfer from Rogers, 3; Virginia Jones, transfer from Oak Grove, 6; Ruth Ladinski, East Liverpool, 5; Myron Howell, Poland, 7, and Ross Nelson, East Liverpool, 7.

Rogers: Lucille Hallom, East Palestine, grade 4.

Elkton: Mrs. Mildred Scroggs, West Point, grade 3; Mrs. Lulu Laber, East Palestine, 6-7.

Oak Grove: Mary Ellen Lee, Oak Grove, lower grades.

West Point: Mary Evelyn Horner, West Point, combination 3-4 and Mrs. Lydia Brooks, Hookstown, Pa., 2.

Bloomberg's Beats Drive-In 5-2 for Class A Playoff Title

Capel's 4-Run Homer Big Blow

Purity, Furnace Also Win Playoff Games

Bob Capel hit an inside-the-park home run with the bases loaded in the fourth inning to lead his Bloomberg team to a 5-2 victory over the Salem Drive-In and the Class A playoff title last night at Kelley Park.

The two teams battled to a 1-1 tie going into the top of the fourth, as B. Fowler rolled out short to first and Allison singled to right to start the Bloomberg uprising.

Limpose reached base on an error and Klein fled out to right field. Buchman walked, loading the bases, and Capel then smashed his grand slam home run. Shaffer walked and D. Stanley was called out for interference.

In girls' playoff competitions at Kelley Park, Purity Dairy evened the series at one game apiece, defeating Homeworth 9-6 in an extra-inning tilt that was packed full of thrills.

Homeworth scored heavily in the first three cantos to take a 3-0 lead. Purity Dairy had trouble settling down, but fought back to take a 6-5 lead in the top of the sixth. Homeworth tied the count at 6-6 in the bottom half of the inning.

Featuring Purity's 16-hit attack was Carol Odey's "inside-the-park" home run in the sixth inning.

The winning runs came in the top of the eighth inning. Haynam beat out a hit and Shaffer rolled out short to first. Reeder singled in Haynam from third, Cobb singled and both runners scored on two errors. G. Odey reached on an error, and when Phillips fled to center, she was caught off first by the centerfielder's throw.

Janet Reeder was the winning twirler for Purity Dairy, giving her a season record of seven wins and only one defeat.

Electric Furnace deadlocked its series with Eljer at one apiece with a 7-3 victory in the Industrial League playoffs also being played at Kelley Park.

The Furnace nine cashed in on Eljer's eight errors and timely hitting to back Marsh Sutherin's fifty-five-hit pitching stint.

The Furnace's big inning was the fifth when the winners tallied four markers. Roher was safe at second on an error, Stapleton sacrificed and was safe on a fielder's choice.

Manning sacrificed catcher to first, with Rohrer scoring. Hanna singled, scoring Stapleton. Galbreath singled and Gallo singled, scoring Hanna.

After H. Miller replaced Bryson on the mound, Cosgrove doubled, with Galbreath scoring. Allison struck out and Sutherin fled to left.

In the final contest of the evening at Kelley Park, Old Dutch of Alliance won the Class AA city league title, defeating Stepanics 4-2. These two teams will enter into the Class AA playoffs in the near future.

Old Dutch wrapped up the contest in the third inning as Herman walked and Halk sacrificed pitcher to the second basemen covering first base.

Vizzuso grounded out to first unassisted and Moore beat out a hit, scoring Herman. Bounce Grimes hit a towering blast over the left field fence for a home run, scoring behind Moore. Williams rolled out second to first.

The famous Joe's All Stars of Akron takes on the power-laden Youngstown Local 2357 as the Youngstown contingent moves in. At 8:30 another top Youngstown club, Squirt and Dads, tangles with the Warren Moose, and in the evening's final at 9:30, Crawford's Gift Shop battles Canton Local 4306.

The tourney will continue Sunday afternoon and evening and Monday evening to complete the first round.

Martinez Upsets Favored Gomes

BOSTON (AP)—Isidro Martinez today looked hopefully up the featherweight ladder after confounding veteran Harold Gomes on a southpaw switch.

Martinez, who arrived only recently from Panama, won a unanimous 10-round decision over the Providence, R.I., boy Wednesday night in a nationally televised bout by changing from orthodox to left-handed style near the end of the third round.

Gomes appeared to have Martinez in trouble several times but never could follow through. Martinez employed a right jab, straight left and occasional two-fisted flurries to defeat the man who had had 43 professional bouts to his 22. Both are 3 years old.

At first Gomes tried his best to solve Martinez' attack but over the final three rounds the Providence lad was plainly lost. Martinez sent him down for a compulsory eight count in the 10th.

The Central American snapped Harold's winning streak at 42 bouts. He has 10-3-1 record to 10-10 for Gomes.

Quakers' Defense Looks Fair, But Offense Appears Spotty

With nine days of football practice and two scrimmages behind them, the Salem High School Quakers have shown some progress. The defensive unit seems to be the brighter spot at the moment, while the offensive combine has looked spotty.

The Quakers have scrimmaged Columbiana and Poland. They played both games on their opponents' fields.

In the Columbiana scrimmage, the Quakers showed some strength on defense, but failed to move the ball on offense.

Salem again looked stronger defensively against Poland with the offensive unit's timing and assignments not quite up to par.

A tremendous battle between Lou Slaby, sophomore fullback, and co-captain Paul Welch, is shaping up for the middle guard spot on the defensive unit. The right tackle slot is still open, with a fair skirmish going on between Joe Julian and George Dailey for that spot.

The two halfback spots on the defensive squad seem to tilt toward two juniors, Kent Malloy and Ben Jones. Both players have shown considerable promise thus far in the campaign.

Other members who seem to be headed for the starting spots on the defensive team are ends Clyde Marks and Jim Horn and tackles Larry Phillips and Joe Julian.

Ralph Ehrhart is another halfback candidate on the Bruce defensive aggregation and Dan Weber is battling a linebacking position.

Right half Darryl Adams has been out of action for the past week due to an injury. Replacing him is junior Fred McNeil, out for the varsity squad for the first time this season.

Carl Zellers had a freak accident during practice recently. The seven-man sled ran over him, bruising and spraining his ankle.

Facts on Sports
Youngest entrant in the USGA 1957 girls' junior golf championship was Judith L. Torluemke of Washington, Iowa. She was 12½ years old during the tournament.

Lester Piggett, winner of the Laurel International race in 1955, won both the English Derby and German Derby in 1957. He is an English jockey.

The 1956-57 athletic year resulted in four Yankee Conference championships for University of Connecticut teams. They were in basketball, football, golf and cross-country.

Twenty Boston Red Sox batters reached first base safely in the seventh inning of a 1953 game with Detroit, a major league record.

Brown Likes Team's Spirit, Awaits Trades

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Satisfied with the spirit shown by the Cleveland Browns in their training camp, Coach Paul Brown says he is "waiting to see" if any trades may develop.

The training camp will end after today's sessions. Friday morning the club takes a plane to San Francisco, where there will be an exhibition with the 49ers. After another game in Los Angeles, the Browns will return to Cleveland, and hold their drills at League Park.

Reviewing the five weeks at Hiram College, Brown termed the camp "very satisfactory" and said the players' spirit reminded him of 1946 and 1947, when the Browns were getting started.

Last year at this time Otto Graham's retirement was being met with the grooming of Babe Parilli and Otto's understudy, George Ratterman. Both were put out of action by injuries during last season and, after Cleveland picked up Tommy O'Connell as insurance, the former Illinois passer finished out the season for them.

Brown said O'Connell "has shown enough to establish himself as a National League quarterback," and "Milt Plum and John Borton have made progress. In fact, Plum has come along fast the last couple of weeks."

Machen-Romero Bout Set Back to Sept. 26
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Promoter Tommy Moyer announced Wednesday night the Eddie Machen-Eddie Romero heavyweight fight originally scheduled for Portland Sept. 12 has been set back until Sept. 26.

The promoter said the deal was to give Romero, who fights out of San Francisco, more time to train. Machen, from Redding, Calif., currently is the No. 1 challenger for Floyd Patterson's title.

Turley also rose to the occasion in the ninth with two men on base and struck out Sammy Esposito to end the game.

Gloomy Al Lopez Still Hopeful

Stengel Isn't Ready To Make Series Plans

CHICAGO (AP)—The New York Yankees appeared pennant-bound for the third straight year today after taking their second in a row from the runnerup Chicago White Sox but Manager Casey Stengel isn't yet ready to make plans for the World Series.

Stengel, happy in the 5-4 Yankees win over the Sox, demurred when asked if it looked like the Bombers had clear sailing the rest of the way. The win put the American League champions 5½ games ahead of the pennant-starved White Sox.

"Nothing cinches it for you until it is all over," the grinning Stengel told reporters, after Wednesday night's rain-delayed 3 hours and 5 minutes game which ended after midnight.

An unhappy Al Lopez wasn't ready to concede the Yankees' pennant.

"The race isn't over yet by any means," the White Sox manager said as he tried to dispell some of the gloom in the Sox dressing room after their 12th defeat by the Yankees in 19 games. The Sox had a six-game win streak going before arrival of the Bombers who had lost five out of seven. The third and final game of the series was set for today.

"Even if we lose all three games, that doesn't mean it's all over," Lopez said. "There are still 29 games to go. Those are the ones we're going to worry about." (The Sox have two games scheduled with the Yankees in New York next month.)

Bullet Bob Turley's clutch pitching for the second straight night put a dent in the Sox pennant hopes. He relieved starter Don Larsen in the sixth.

The Sox outthit the New Yorkers 10 to 7, but they also left far more men on base. Billy Pierce, seeking his 18th win, was charged with his 10th loss.

The 6,917 fans who sat through the rain-drenched game groaned in horror as they saw 13 Sox stranded. In contrast, the Bombers left only four men on base.

Two times the Sox had the bases loaded and failed to get a run across.

In the third inning and none out, Larsen set down three of the Sox top hitters, leaving three stranded.

The Sox were frustrated again in the seventh after Torgeson's homer scored Nellie Fox and put them behind 5-4. Bob Turley, who had relieved Larsen in the sixth, walked Minoso. Doby singled and Sherm Lollar walked to load the bases. With one out, the Yankee speedballer got out of the jam.

Rivera fouled out and Turley struck out pinchbatter Fred Hatfield.

Turley also rose to the occasion in the ninth with two men on base and struck out Sammy Esposito to end the game.

County Tennis Tourney Set Saturday

The Columbiana County Tennis Tournament, an annual affair held here over the Labor Day weekend, will get under way Saturday with singles matches scheduled for play at the Salem Country Club tennis courts.

First round matches will find Don Hammell going against Bob Snyder, Wayne Harris battling Gordon Scott, Bill Lynch facing Rudy Maroscher, and Dick Strain skirmishing with Maurice Young.

In other matches, last year's champion Lloyd Gordon will defend his title in an opening round against Dick Clapp. Jerry Hochadel will match strokists with Tod Price and Al Parker will play Harley Thayer.

Drawings for the doubles matches will be held Saturday, with 11 teams in the fold thus far, and it is anticipated that complete bracket of 16 teams will play.

MAJOR LEAGUE STARS
Hitting
Ted Williams, Red Sox—tagged his 33rd home run, tying for the league lead, in the seventh inning for Boston's second and final hit in 1-0 victory over Tigers' Jim Bunning.

Pitching
Ed Roebuck, Dodgers—blanked Cubs on three singles after relieving in sixth for 4-3, 14-inning victory in first nine-inning stint in majors.

Bob Turley Stars In Yankees' 5-4 Win Over Chicago

By The Associated Press

Bullet Bob Turley, once a strong but wild strikeout artist who fired away and hoped for the best, finally has become a pitcher, a poised and powerful ace who has slammed the door on the Chicago White Sox in their big bid to overhaul New York's Yankees.

The big righthander has proved himself virtually overnight in his sixth major league season — just when the Yankees needed him most.

He has won nine of 11 and has become the major league leader with a 2.41 earned run average.

It was Turley who fanned Minnie Minoso with the bases loaded in the eighth for a 12-6 triumph in Tuesday's opener. Wednesday night, with the tying run on third and the winning run on second, Turley sent a called third strike past Sammy Esposito in the ninth for a 5-4 victory that put the Yankees 5½ games ahead of the second place Sox.

Orioles Wallop Indians 19-6

Baltimore Gets 19 Hits, Regains Fifth

CLEVELAND — The Cleveland Indians lost 19-6 to the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night.

The Orioles clouted 19 hits, including three home runs, a triple and six doubles off five Indian pitchers.

To add to the humiliation, Baltimore's Connie Johnson fanned 12 Indians in eight innings. The Indians made three errors, and Indian pitchers threw four wild pitches.

The victory moved Baltimore back into fifth place, a half game ahead of the Indians.

The Indians hope to change places with them again today in the rubber game of the series. Mike Garcia, who has been looking better recently, will oppose Billy O'Dell.

Brightest spot for the Indians in Wednesday night's slaughter was Gene Woodling again. Despite a bruised elbow, injured by a pitched ball the night before, he started the game and got a homer and a double in four official times at bat. That improved his batting average by two points to .337.

Rocky Colavito also homered for the Indians, driving in two runs off relief pitcher Jerry Walker in the ninth inning.

Gus Triandos got two homers for Baltimore and Al Pilarcik hit one.

The Orioles knocked out Ray Narleski with five runs in the first inning, giving the righthander his fourth loss against nine victories. Vito Valentini, the pitcher purchased from Los Angeles last Sunday, held the Orioles scoreless on one hit in the second, but left for a pinch hitter.

Sugar Ray's Title Fight Again Snagged

NEW YORK — Sugar Ray Robinson's defense of his middleweight boxing crown against Carmen Basilio at the Yankee Stadium Sept. 23 hit another snag today and apparently was back in the laps of the New York State Athletic Commission.

The snag, the IBC said after long conferences Wednesday, was Robinson's alleged demand for an increase in theater television guarantee from $250,000 to $300,000.

The demand, said the IBC in a statement, was made by George Gainford, long associated with Robinson, during a conference between an IBC group headed by Managing Director Harry Markson and Martin Machat, an attorney representing Robinson. President Jim Norris of the IBC still was in the hospital recovering from an attack of food poisoning.

"The discussion had appeared to be progressing satisfactorily toward a conclusion," the IBC statement said. "However, the IBC was advised by George Gainford, who claimed to speak for Robinson, that Robinson has now raised his demands by the way of a theater television guarantee for himself from $250,000 he requested before the New York State Athletic Commission to $300,000."

An IBC spokesman said efforts to reach Robinson had been futile but the statement said:

"If this (increase of TV guarantee) is confirmed by Robinson, the IBC will bring an action against Teleprompter and its president, Irving Kahn, for inducing breach of contract."

Robinson originally said he would not go ahead with the fight because the IBC had signed a contract for theater television rights with Theater Network Television without his approval. He claimed to have a better offer from Teleprompter.

On Monday, at a stormy hearing, the boxing commission ordered Robinson to fulfill his contract as signed before that body.

Virgil Akins, the welterweight boxer, has fought professionally since 1948.

Yanks, Chicago Want Maglie

Dodgers Say They Won't Peddle Him

NEW YORK — The New York Yankees, striving to strengthen their injury-riddled pitching staff for the stretch drive, may be balked a second time in an effort to obtain Brooklyn's Sal (The Barber) Maglie, one time scourge of the National League.

In 1955 the Cleveland Indians refused to pass on the 40-year-old righthander when he was placed on the waiver list by the New York Giants after pacing the National League club to the 1951 and '54 championships.

This time it is the Chicago White Sox, who trail the Yankees by 5½ games after losing Wednesday night 5-4, standing in the road of the American League champions.

Chuck Comiskey, vice president of the White Sox, said they claimed Maglie the first time he was placed on the waiver list but that the Dodgers withdrew him.

"This time, we let him go through and will bargain for him," Comiskey said.

The Yankees also waived on the Barber the second time around, thus setting up a battle of dollars. Under the waiver clause, all clubs in the National League first must waive on Maglie, who is said to be receiving $30,000 for pitching this year. Then all American League clubs, starting the last place Senators, also must waive.

A club is permitted to withdraw a player's name only once.

"We have made a substantial offer for Maglie and also Virgil Trucks of Kansas City," said Comiskey.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees said he had no knowledge of the efforts to obtain Maglie. There was no comment from other club officials.

Beyond admitting that the Dodgers had asked waivers on Maglie, the Dodgers would admit nothing. "I'm not peddling him," said vice president Buzzy Bavasi. He did admit, however, that another American League club, presumably the White Sox, was interested.

Maglie hulled a no hit game against the Phillies last year and compiled a 13-4 record after being obtained from the Indians.

Packers Win Third Exhibition Contest

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Eagles and Green Bay Packers are at opposite ends of the pole today following the Packers 16-13 win Wednesday night in Milwaukee's County Stadium in a National Football League exhibition tilt. Green Bay now has a 3-0 record for exhibition play, while Philadelphia is 0-3.

Fred Cone's 37-yard field goal in the third period was the clincher for the Packers, cutting down a gallant 13-point rally by the Birds in the same period. Cone also had field goals from the 41 and 36 yard lines.

Neil Wordon, on a 2-yard jaunt, and Bob Lusk on a 46-yard run-back of a pass interception scored for the Eagles. Sam Palumbi tallied the other Packer score on a lateral from Bill Forester, who recovered a fumble.

No NFL Exhibitions are slated for tonight, but the Chicago Bears and New York Giants have a replay of their 1956 championship game at Dallas Friday night.

this week of the Firestone American Legion Post.

The post and ladies' auxiliary will each have booths in the large exhibit tent. They will receive membership dues and renewals for next year. Quotas are 260 for the post and 162 for the auxiliary.

Past Commander Ellis Ritchie reported pensions have been obtained for two World War I veterans because of the efforts of the post. Three members will be sent to the leadership training school in Columbus Oct. 5 and 6. Robert Patches, 10th district commander;
Richard Wendroth, post commander and Richard Wingard, post vice commander, will represent the post. Students enrolled are school-ensuing year were discussed.

Members will do clerical work for the visit of the Public Health League's mobile X-ray unit to the street fair from 2 to 4 and 6 to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday of next week. Free chest examinations given by the unit are financed by the sale of Christmas seals.

Club members who will help with the clerical work are: Bertha Shontz, Stella Esterly, Margaret
Morrow, Margaret Brungard, Ida
Magill, Margaret Barrow, Jewell Furney, Mabel Lewton, Ruth Back-strom, Freida Berryman, Florence
Guy, Anna Babbitt, Marie Lundgren, Vera Frayster, Irene Hum,

meetings will be held in the Methodist church dining room the next 12 months.

COLUMBIANA Farm Bureau Cooperative is vacating its plant on West Railroad St. and the Pennsylvania Railroad. It is moving its stock and equipment to the plant in Lisbon. Apple growers of the area have leased the building, 60 x150, for use until their new packing house at Greenford is completed.

The building was erected by the Farm Bureau 25 years ago. Its equipment included a feed grinding mill and its 75,000-bushel potato storage capacity was filled every fall until the large growers of the area provided their own storage facilities. The building will be for sale.

COLUMBIANA HIGH SCHOOL and Fairfield Centralized High School, expect increased enrollments when the 1957-58 school year begins Tuesday. Columbiana High expects an enrollment of about 1,185, an increase of 50 over a year ago. Fairfield expects an enrollment of 507, an increase of 30 over a year ago. Columbiana High will enroll about 275, including 65 seniors. Fairfield expects an enrollment of 142 in High School.

THE FRIENDLY CLASS of Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church will sponsor a booth at the church again this year. They will serve meals during the street fair and home coming the last three days of next week. Members are inviting donations of cakes, pies and baked beans and ask donors to call Mrs. Warren Miller at 2-4556. Help will also be needed in erecting the booth, serving food and in washing dishes during the fair. Volunteers may contact any member of the class. A new gas range has been bought for the church from Raffel Bros., Inc. in Youngstown. It was delivered on Tuesday.

$500,000 Awarded To Victims' Relatives

DETROIT —Trans World Airlines and Castleton, Inc., a Kentucky horse breeding farm, have been ordered to pay more than a half million dollars to relatives of six victims of an airliner crash near Cincinnati in 1955.

The six were among 15 killed when a Trans World airliner and a DC owned by Castleton collided over the Greater Cincinnati Airport Jan. 12, 1955.

U.S. District Judge John Martin awarded the relatives a total of $567,000. Mrs. Dorothy Cohn of Union Heights, Ohio, drew the largest settlement of $140,000, for the death of her husband Joseph.

2nd Atlantic-Pacific Canal to Be Studied

WASHINGTON —Rep. Bonner
(D-NC), chairman of the House
Merchant Marine Committee, said today his group is going to make a special study of where a second canal can be built to connect the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

The main reason for the study:
the Panama Canal is expected to be crammed to capacity with ship traffic by around the year 1970.

Bonner, in an interview, said,
there are plans for a subcommittee to visit Nicaragua. But he did not rule out the possibility that any place in Central America from Colombia to Mexico might wind up a recommended site for a new canal.

Radioactive Gnats Have Been Developed

INDIO, Calif. — Radioactive
gnats are the latest development of the atomic age in the Coachella Valley of California.

The gnats have not been infected by an atom bomb. They're simply the controlled subjects of scientific tests being conducted by the mosquito abatement district of Indio.

Thousands of gnats have been made radioactive by a diet of a specific type of phosphorus so their range can be determined after they are released. To recapture them, various stations are baited with rotten eggs, a real gnat delicacy.

The radioactive gnats are so "hot" that geiger counters react violently to them, but no uranium rush has been falsely touched off.
Dr. Mir Mule of the University of California's Riverside campus hopes to evolve methods for combating the gnats by studying their habits while they are free.

WHAT IS HE?—He's billed not only as the biggest steer in the world, but also as practically an impossibility. He's Cimarron out of a Brahma cow and sired by an American buffalo, and so far as his owners, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davis, of Scottsdale, Ariz., know, he's the only such hybrid in existence. What few offspring of American bison bulls and domestic cows that have been produced failed to reach maturity, although a domestic bull and buffalo cow cross is more successful. But Cimarron made it — he's 17 now. Plans and specifications: 3,140 pounds in his bare hoofs, six feet high from the ground to the top of his hump, 10 feet long, and horns six inches in diameter at the base. The Davises, who have had him at Greenville this week, are bringing him here for exhibit at the Canfield Fair, August 29 through September 2. Born 35 miles north of Amarillo, Tex., he was raised on the Circle D Ranch at Colony, Okla. The Davises, who have owned him since he was three, have been showing him at state and county fairs, rodeos and other celebrations since he was nine years old. It takes five gallons of oats and a bale of hay a day to stoke him, on tour — plus cotton candy, candy apples, and similar fair fare. Back home on pasture, he's just what unsuccessful breeders had hoped to achieve in similar crosses — a critter that can grow a buffalo coat to fend off Oklahoma blizzards and zero weather, and with sweat glands inherited from his Brahma mamma enabling him to cope with 113 degrees and upwards. —Paid Adv.

Malenkov Was Beria's Tool, Red Boss Says

MOSCOW (U) — In the strongest indictment of Georgi Malenkov to date, Nikita Khrushchev has denounced the former Soviet Premier as a shadow and tool of executed secret police chief Lavrenty Beria.

The Communist party boss, in an article published Tuesday in the magazine Kommunist, charged that Malenkov and Beria goaded Stalin in his last years into acts which now warrant denunciation.

Khrushchev declared Malenkov was completely under Beria's influence, that he was the former police chief's "shadow and a tool in his hands."

Stalin made "gross and grave mistakes," he said, but he did much good for Russia and the Communist movement.

"Though Malenkov occupied a high position in the party and government," Khrushchev continued, "he did not restrain Stalin, but very skillfully took advantage of Stalin's weaknesses and habits in the last years of his life. In many cases he incited him to action which was deserving of stern condemnation."

Malenkov was purged from the top Kremlin command in late June for allegedly conspiring with V. M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich in a revolt against Khrushchev's policies. The Soviet government says the pudgy ex-premier now is director of a power station in Central Asia.

Beria was purged in June 1953 while Malenkov was premier. He died before a firing squad.

TO GET COMPENSATION

MITO, Japan (U) — The Mito procurement board today announced the United States and Japan will pay about $1,200 compensation to the family of a Japanese woman killed early this month by an American plane.

First Lt. John L. Gordon of Erie, Pa., whose plane struck and killed Mrs. Haru Hojo, 63, as he was taking off, was not indicted by the Mito prosecutors. The district procurator's office ruled a week ago that he was "performing an official duty."

NIGHT PASSAGE — Dianne Foster tries to warn James Stewart that he has no chance as he loads his pistol for a battle with a gang of badmen in this scene from "Night Passage," film picture, in which Miss Foster, Dan Duryea, Elaine Stewart and Brandon deWilde are co-starred with Stewart and Audie Murphy. The picture will show at the State Theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

3 Gunmen Hold Up Canadian Mail Car

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (U) — Three gunmen held up the mail car of a moving Canadian National Railway train today between Woodstock and Ingersoll. They escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

The bandits, believed to have disguised themselves as railway workers, apparently boarded the train at Woodstock, 22 miles east of London. They held eight mail crewmen at gunpoint for the seven-mile trip to Ingersoll. The gunmen got off there after locking the crewmen in a washroom. Police were not notified of the robbery until the train reached Dorchester.

NAMED NEW FBI HEAD

CLEVELAND (U) — William Murphy, a 48-year-old Irishman with a law degree from the University of Detroit, will become agent in charge of the Cleveland office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation next week. Murphy succeeds H. O. Hawkins, 47, who will take charge of the Houston office.

Good neighbors: Bristol County, R.I., borders Bristol County, Mass.

TEENS TRAIN

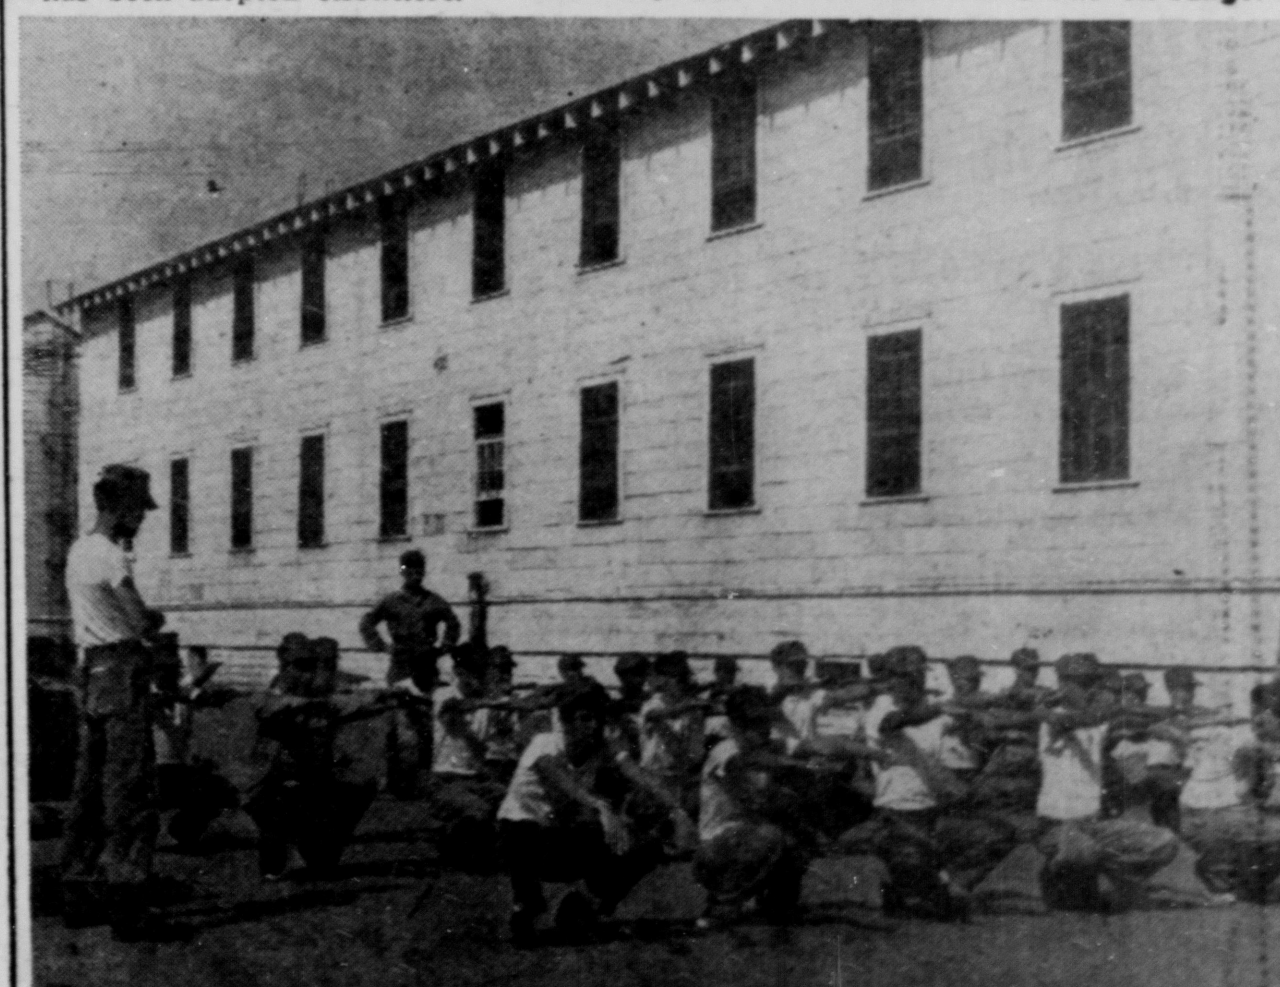

SOME 400 boys from Cook County, Ill., join the Marines and, after a week's training, are released. They belong to a group called the Devil Dog Teens. Every week, from July to September, groups of 50 boys undergo a week's training with the Marines at Great Lakes Naval Training station. Interested business and professional men take care of the expenses. Facilities and personnel are provided at Great Lakes. At six a.m., the boys roll out of their bunks for reveille. In between special high-calorie meals, they have squad drills, calisthenics and organized sports. They also tour the various schools on the base, including the gunnery, fire-fighting and electronics schools. They attend classes also. On their last night, the boys camp out in all-night bivouac. Program has been adopted elsewhere.

Each boy fires five rounds with a rifle on range.

STANDING ROOM ONLY—Ignoring the "No Standing" sign, jazz lovers dig the sounds made by a tailgate Dixieland crew heralding a jazz festival in New York.

One of the least liked parts of the training for some is daily calisthenics drill.

Cookouts Call for Changes

An end-of-the-season cookout we strongly recommend is one of grill-fish steaks and whole tomatoes. The fish is marinated in a seasoned olive-oil and lemon-juice mixture, and the marinade is used during the grilling of fish and tomatoes.

This combination is perfect for backyard cookery. When we tested the recipe in the garden patio of our New York house, we used just one layer of charcoal briquets (about 24) in our large outdoor grill, and the cooking time was 20 minutes. The fish steaks were put on a fine-meshed grate, which we had greased copiously, and we had a long-handled wide spatula on hand for turning them.

Soup was the first course for this meal. Accompanying the fish and whole tomatoes were crisp potato sticks. We emptied these out of their can onto a square of foil that had its edges turned up, and heated them at the edge of the grill. (Potato chips could, of course, be served instead of the sticks.) Our salad was one of shredded green cabbage garnished with sliced cucumber slices and a dressing of paprika; the dressing for the salad was oil and vinegar plus seasonings, but the liquid from a jar of bread-and-butter pickles was used as part of the vinegar. Fruit and cookies rounded off this pleasant and satisfying supper.

Ingredients: 4 portions swordfish steaks about 3/4-inch thick (2 to 2 1/2 pounds), 1/4 cup olive oil, juice of 1 lemon (3 tablespoons), 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, bay leaves, 4 medium-large tomatoes (1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pounds), extra salt, 1 teaspoon instant minced onion.

Method: Wipe fish steaks with a damp cloth; arrange in a shallow dish. Beat well with a fork the olive oil, lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, paprika, and the mustard. Pour over fish; place a bay leaf on top of each portion. Cover and refrigerate for 2 to 4 hours, basting several times and turning the steaks. If necessary to have tomatoes stand straight, cut a thin slice from bottoms; slice off tops, cut out any stem ends. Score tops of tomatoes, making 6 criss-cross cuts in each; do not make cuts more than 3/4-inch deep so tomatoes will keep their shape during grilling. Sprinkle tomatoes with extra salt and the instant onion, tucking some of the onion into the cuts. Place fish and tomatoes on well-greased grate 4 to 6 inches from a layer of glowing coals. Place bay leaves, from marinade, on top of steaks. Spoon a little of the marinade over tops of tomatoes. Cook fish, turning with wide spatula, until they are cooked through, flake easily and are lightly browned — about 20 minutes. (On fine-meshed grate, bay leaves will stick to fish, if steaks are turned carefully.) Tomatoes will take about the same time as steaks; if they are hot through and softened before, remove with wide spatula and keep warm at side of grill. After they are cooked, both fish and tomatoes may need extra salt and both will benefit from freshly ground pepper. The bay leaves add a faint but interesting flavor.

Note: We used fresh swordfish steaks in testing this recipe, but you may wish to try another firm-fleshed fish such as halibut.

CINCINNATI ARRESTED
CINCINNATI (AP) — Federal narcotics agents have charged a Cincinnati man with possession of marijuana and identified him as a wholesaler of the narcotics. Raymond Crawford, 30, was arrested Tuesday when agents and city police staged a raid that netted three gallon jugs of marijuana, valued at about $10,000 in retail sales.

Preserve Peaches Along with Ginger

If you're an old hand at putting up preserves and know the satisfaction of opening jars rich with summer fruit, you'll be interested in this recipe for Ginger Peaches. But if preserving is new to you, this rule is fine to try because it's a small-quantity one that's easy to follow.

Adept Seafood Cooks Present This Recipe

So long as there is the sea and fish and seafood in it, there'll be New Bedford men and boats to bring it to American tables.

New Bedford, Mass., women, of course, are skilled seafood cooks. Mrs. Jacob Simonson, wife of one of the earliest scallop fishermen, gave us her cherished scallop chowder recipe.

One cup of diced carrots, 1 small onion, minced, 1/2 cup chopped scallions, 2 cups diced potatoes, 4 cups water, 1/2 pound scallops, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup milk.

Boil carrots, onion, scallions, potatoes in salted water until done. Add diced scallops and boil for 5 minutes. Make cream sauce by stirring flour and butter together in double boiler, adding milk, and cooking until thick. Add to rest of ingredients. If desired, 1/2 cup of sweet cream may be added.

Mrs. Carl Shaw, wife of the compass adjuster for many of New Bedford's fishing fleets, makes a seductive Scallops à la Newburg. Scallops à la Newburg

Fifteen to 16 sea scallops, quartered, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons brandy, sherry, whiskey or lemon juice, 1 cup cream, top milk or homogenized milk, 4 egg yolks, beaten, 1 teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne and few grains mace.

Cook quartered scallops slowly in butter for 5 minutes. Add seasonings and brandy or lemon juice and simmer 5 more minutes. Combine cream with beaten egg yolks. Add slowly to the scallop mixture, stir constantly for 1 1/2 minutes over low heat. Serve in puff pastry shells.

Total world production of uranium metal in 1956 was estimated to be between 14,000 and 15,000 tons.

You'll be proud as can be when you serve these preserves with baked ham for a main course, or with vanilla ice cream for dessert. The ginger is added with a discriminating hand so that the delicate flavor is bound to please most everyone.

Ginger Peach Preserve

Ingredients: 2 pounds prepared freestone peaches, 1 1/4 pound sugar, 2 cups water, 1 rounded tablespoon slivered crystallized ginger (rinsed free of sugar before cutting), 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Method: Use ripe but firm fruit; wash peaches in cold water and drain. Put sugar, water, slivered ginger and salt in a medium-sized kettle and stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to boil rapidly; boil 3 minutes; remove from heat and allow to cool. To prepare peaches, cover them with boiling water (off heat) for a few minutes; plunge into cold water; drain and strip off skins; cut into halves and remove pits. Weigh peaches. Add weighed peach halves to cooled syrup and boil gently until softened and partly transparent; add a couple of cracked peach pits just before peaches are removed from heat. Skim off as much foam as possible with a big spoon. Turn into a shallow container — a heat-resistant glass baking pan about 8 by 12 by 2 inches is fine. Skim off any remaining foam. Cover with waxed paper and refrigerate for 12 to 24 hours — this helps peaches absorb syrup and stay plump. Remove peaches from syrup and pack loosely, cavity side down, into enough room at top so peaches clean hot jars — half-pint or pint size without shoulders — leaving enough room at top so peaches may be completely covered with syrup. Pour syrup into a saucepan and boil 2 minutes or longer — until about as thick as liquid honey. Fill jars with boiling hot syrup, leaving 1/4-inch head space. Seal at once, using jar manufacturer's directions, to a couple of weeks before using.

Kitchen Notes

If you have no scales for weighing peaches and sugar, you may count 1 closely packed quart of peach halves as weighing 1 pound, and 1 pint of granulated sugar as weighing about 1 pound.

In some food shops a little (1 1/4 ounces) crystallized ginger may be found packaged in a small cellophane bag. This is economical because this amount will be enough for two recipes of the Ginger Peach Preserves.

New wide-mouth jars come without shoulders and are tapered so that they are a little wider at the top than at the bottom. They seal with dome lids and screw bands. They come in convenient 1/2 pint, pint and 1 1/2 pint sizes and all the jars — except the 1/2 pint size — are marked so they can be used for measuring. The 1/2 pint jar is excellent to use for jams and jellies because it eliminates the use of paraffin.

Frozen Fish Sticks Enjoyed By Youngsters

Once school is under way, eat-and-run meals are the order of the day.

A dish that meets requirements for the junior set is easily built around raw frozen fish sticks. Just slip fish stick halves and little chunks of vegetables on a skewer and broil.

Fish stick kabobs can be eased right onto a plate or onto toasted finger rolls. Tomato wedges, pickles and potato chips make nice accompaniments as do toasted, buttered corn muffins.

One 10-oz. pkg. raw frozen Sea-Pak breaded fish sticks; 1 medium onion, cut in 1 inch pieces; 10 small chunks cooked potatoes; 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine. Yields 10 kabobs.

Tapioca Gives Plum Ice Cream Smooth Texture

How would you like some Plum Ice Cream? Ice cream, pink and plummy, put together in a flash of the egg beater.

Creamy smooth Plum Ice Cream literally can be made in minutes from just four ingredients. Yet this dessert obligingly awaits your pleasure for hours or over-night in the refrigerator tray.

Lemon juice points up the flavor of the colorful plums... the very same plums that are a favorite fruit among the young set, strained plums with tapioca.

Used in recipes such as sherbet and ice cream, the added tapioca is a dividend, assuring a smooth texture minus the icy crystals that can crop up in the best-planned "home frozen desserts."

Plum Ice Cream
1 cup (2 containers) strained plums with tapioca, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 6 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 pint whipping cream, whipped.

Blend plums with tapioca, lemon juice and sugar. Fold in whipped cream, pour into a freezer tray, freeze until firm. Serves 6.

Tortoni trick: To simplify unmolding and give added texture, arrange 1/2 cup wafer crumbs in bottom of freezing tray before pouring in ice cream. Macaroons, lady fingers, graham crackers or plain cake crumbs may be used. Arrowroot biscuits and two chocolate wafers were rolled together to make the fine crumb "frosting" in this picture.

After unmolding ice cream on cold serving dish, decorate top with Maraschino cherries or nuts; cut into portions. Slices neatly. To speed freezing, chill plums with tapioca before adding to mixture.

In The Service

Four Leetonia youths recently completed nine weeks of recruit training at the United States Naval Training Center at Bainbridge, Md.

The boys, all recent Leetonia High School graduates, are now spending 14-day furloughs with their families. They are: Thomas Bell, son of Mrs. George Bell; Anthony A. Ferry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ferry; Donald Bonifanti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Geski; and George R. Altman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Altman.

Upon the completion of their leaves, Bell will report to Philadelphia, Pa., to attend boilerman school while Ferry will go to Norman, Okla., for aviation school. Bonifanti will head for the Severn River Command for temporary duty, and Altman will return to Bainbridge for hospital corpsman school.

All four successfully completed instruction at Bainbridge in seamanship, ordnance and gunnery, firefighting and military bearing and drill.

The four youths enlisted in Salem and were sworn in at Pittsburgh, Pa.

TWO NUNS SENTENCED

VIENNA (AP)—Prague radio said today a Czechoslovak court in the Moravian town of Vsetin has sentenced two Roman Catholic nuns to prison terms of 4 1/2 and 5 years on charges of belonging to an anti-Communist underground movement.

Try Chocolate Swirl Pie

With school starting, how about throwing a party for the youngsters to mark the return to "the pursuit of knowledge"? A little fun, something special, gives the return to school a more pleasant meaning.

Chocolate Swirl Chiffon Pie

One envelope (1 tablespoon) gelatin, 1-3 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup evaporated milk, 3/4 cup water, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 egg whites, 1-3 cup sugar, 1/2 cup whipping cream, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 baked 9-inch pie shell, 1/2 square unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled.

Mix gelatin, 1-3 cup sugar, the salt, evaporated milk and water in top of double boiler. Add 2 squares chocolate. Cook over hot water until chocolate is melted and gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Beat with egg beater until smooth. Pour slowly over egg yolks, stirring constantly. Return mixture to double boiler and cook 3 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat egg whites until foamy. Beat in 1-3 cup sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture will stand in stiff peaks. Then fold in cold chocolate mixture gradually, blending well. Whip the cream with 2 teaspoons sugar until stiff.

Spoon half the chocolate mixture into baked pie shell. Spoon half the whipped cream in 5 small mounds on top of chocolate. Pour half of the melted 1/2 square chocolate over the whipped cream mounds. Cut through the filling with a spatula to form a swirl pattern. Add the remaining chocolate mixture, whipped cream, and melted chocolate in the same way; repeat the swirl pattern. Chill pie.

Note: If desired, 1 1/2 cups fresh milk may be substituted for the evaporated milk and water.

Leftover Kernels Add Interest

Leftover cooked corn on the cob is an advantage we sometimes plan for by boiling more corn than we count on being eaten.

Cut from the cobs, the golden kernels add interest to pancakes cooked corn in corn sticks? These may be prepared with cornmeal so you have a double-corn treat; or you may follow this recipe calling for biscuit mix and extra shortening and producing a rich and fluffy texture. Some folks like to eat this hot bread with oodles of butter and maple-flavored syrup — a combination worth trying.

Northern Corn Sticks

Ingredients: 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 1-3 cups biscuit mix, 1/4 cup butter or margarine (melted), 1 cup corn (whole kernels cut from cooked corn on the cob), extra butter, maple-blended syrup.

Method — Beat eggs in medium-sized mixing bowl with rotary beater (hand or electric) until thick and almost white in color. Add milk and sugar and beat enough to blend. Add biscuit mix and melted cooled butter; beat enough to dampen dry ingredients thoroughly but not enough to get rid of every small lump. Fold in the cooked corn kernels. Measure while put about 1/4 teaspoon butter in each well of iron corn stick pans; place in hot (425 degrees) oven until pans are extremely hot. Spoon mixture into wells, filling them just about to the top. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven about 15 minutes or until well browned. Remove from pans and serve at once (or reheat) with butter and maple-blended syrup; warm syrup if desired. Makes 14 to 16 large corn sticks.

Note: In measuring biscuit mix spoon lightly into cup; do not pack down.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

Two cups flour, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup shortening, 2-3 cup milk, softened butter, strawberries.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut fat into mixture until the size of a pea. Make a well in the mixture and add milk gradually to make a soft dough. Toss on floured board and knead gently. Pat or roll to 1/4-inch thickness. Place half the dough in a greased cake pan and spread the surface with melted butter. Top with remainder of dough. Bake at 450 deg. F. for 20 minutes.

Remove the shortcake to a large plate and separate the layers with a fork. Place crushed, sweetened berries on the lower layer, replace second layer and again cover with cut-up sweetened berries. Serve with plain or whipped cream.

For a time-saving shortcut, Miss Metz suggests your favorite biscuit mix. Add 1/4 cup sugar for each 2 cups of mix to make a sweeter dough. A richer product may be made by spreading the dough, which has been rolled out, with melted butter, folding the dough over, patting it out and repeating this process once more before the shortcake is baked.

Quiche Lorraine New Dish

Now that fall is coming, it's time to think of new and interesting dishes for the family. Here are two, both with a foreign accent and delightful taste.

Quiche Lorraine

One (10-inch) baked pastry shell, 6 slices bacon, 1 small onion, finely chopped, 6 egg yolks, 2 cups instant nonfat dry milk powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, dash of paprika, 1 (8-ounce) package natural Swiss cheese, shredded.

Fry bacon until crisp, drain on absorbent paper; crumble into small pieces. Sauté onion in 1/4 cup of the bacon drippings until tender; drain. Combine egg yolks, water, instant nonfat dry milk powder and seasonings; beat with rotary beater until blended. Add bacon, cheese and onions; blend well. Pour into baked pastry shell. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) about 40 minutes, or until knife inserted near center of custard comes out clean. Serve hot.

Gnocchi Romano
